COMMENTS FROM THE OFFICE OF THE TOWN MANAGER

The assessors have nearly completed their work. We will start compiling the valuation next week. As soon as we find the total valuation a tax rate can be set.

Our new International truck was delivered this week. This will give ample time to break it in before it starts plowing snow. The men at the town garage will mount the equipment rainy days. The double Mrs. Dexter Stowell, Mrs. Loy Harwing plow equipment will be changed from the 1966 truck to the new one. A single wing attachment will be placed on the older truck.

Pipe arrived for the drain at Main and Philbrook Streets. That project will be started as soon as we can hire a backhoe. We will have to complete the work where it crosses the street before school opens.

Some of the summons for personal and poll taxes were served this week, more will be issued as time permits.

BETHEL GIRL SCOUTS ORGANIZE FOR YEAR

Earlier this week, Mrs. Betty Goodspeed, field director from the Kennebec Girl Scout Council, met with Mrs. Blaine Moores, Mrs. Dana Brooks, Mrs. Larry Cox, to discuss Bethel's program for the coming year. During this meeting the following leaders were announced: Mrs. Blake Mackay and Mrs. Dexter Stowell, Mrs. Loy Harwing plow equipment will be changed from the 1966 truck to the new one. A single wing attachment will be placed on the older truck.

Mrs. Blaine Moores, already a director of the Kennebec Council, will serve as troop organizer and Mrs. Stanley Davis as Troop Consultant. The fund drive held annually during October will be headed by Mrs. Michael O'Donnell, Mrs. Jean Owen will be in charge of the cookie sale in the spring.

A general orientation program for all adults and workshop for Brownie and Junior Leaders under the direction of the Council is being planned for Monday, August 31st at the Congregational Church. It is hoped with this year's earlier organization and orientation program that the leaders will be better equipped to work together in offering the girls the most of the scouting program.

TRIO ESCAPES SERIOUS INJURY IN EARLY FRIDAY CAR CRASH

Three young men escaped serious injury early last Friday morning when a 1967 two door sedan went off the road on Route 26 in Newry.

Reportedly Charles D. Smith, 17, of West Bethel, driver of the car, became drowsy and lost control of the vehicle on a curve. The car overturned, snapped off a utility pole, and completely wrecked, came to rest on its side.

Passengers in the vehicle were John Gauthier, 16, Newry, and Donald Luxton, 16, of West Bethel. They were taken to Rumford Community Hospital. Smith and Gauthier remained overnight.

Investigating the early morning crash was State Trooper Wayne Gray of Rumford Center.

WINDHAM MAN NAMED TO S. A. D. 44 POSITION AT MONDAY MEETING

As the concluding action of the regular meeting of the S. A. D. 44 board of directors held at Telstar Regional High School Monday evening of this week, David Bishop of Windham, was approved as assistant superintendent. Mr. Bishop's post encompasses the role of administrative assistant including supervision of elementary education and curriculum coordination with the secondary level.

A graduate of Stoneham, Mass., High School in 1956, Mr. Bishop received a B. A. degree from Southern Methodist University in 1961, with a major in Speech; and received a M.Ed. from Northeastern University in 1968, with a major in Educational Administration. Currently he is completing his certificate of advanced study at Northeastern University. Mr. Bishop has had nine years of teaching and administrative experience. He is married and at present lives in North Windham with his wife and two children. Mr. Bishop begins his duties in S. A. D. 44 on Aug. 24.

Preceding the vote on the recommendation of Mr. Bishop by the nominating committee, a motion to drop the position of administrative assistant lost, six affirmative, seven negative.

In earlier action during the meeting, the board directed Supt. Robert J. Gerardi to convey a letter to Keith Cunningham, Telstar principal, commending him in being chosen to teach in the Continuing Education Division of the University of Maine. Mr. Cunningham will teach one night a week during the 1970-71 school year.

The board approved the granting of maternity leave near the close of the first semester of the 1970-71 school year to Mrs. Priscilla Holte and Mrs. Dianne Morton.

BETHEL SELECTMAN TO RESIGN MUNICIPAL POST

Bethel Selectman John K. Brown has mailed a letter of resignation to Avery Angevine, chairman of the local board, because of possible incompatibility of holding concurrently the position of selectman/assessor and school director in a School Administrative District.

Mr. Brown's letter to the board chairman requested that the resignation be effective on the date of the commitment of 1970 taxes, or an earlier date if the board so desired. He has served as a member of the Bethel board of selectmen since March of 1966 and was elected to the S. A. D. 44 board of directors this past March.

As a result of correspondence with Richard B. Sanborn, legal counsel of the Maine Municipal Association, Mr. Brown learned early this month that in the absence of a court decision on the matter that there was some risk involved in one person trying to hold both offices and it was their advice to choose one or the other.

In answer to a similar inquiry by Mr. Brown to the State Department of Education in late July, Deputy Commissioner Kenneth S. Nickerson cited a State Attorney General's ruling that "the tenor of several sections of the statutes relating to public education is that incompatibility results from a merger of the offices of selectman and school administrative director in one person." Mr. Nickerson went on to say that a decision would have to be made if a question was raised about holding both positions.

MAINE HARDWOOD TREES THREATENED BY CATERPILLARS

A state entomologist said this week that next year could be a bad one for Maine hardwood trees because of the leaf-hungry Saddle Prominent caterpillar.

The insect, which derives its name from a prominent saddle-shaped spot on its back, is especially attracted to the leaves of sugar maples, birches, beeches, oak and maple trees. So much so, in fact, that it has chomped its way through thousands of acres of hardwood leaves in New England.

"The insects are now going into the ground where they will become pupae and spend the winter," state entomologist Robley W. Nash explained. "Next May they will emerge as olive-brown moths and lay eggs which in turn will become the feeding caterpillars of 1971."

The invasion has so far been limited in Maine to Oxford County, Nash said. Areas hardest hit were Fryeburg, Stoneham, Lovell, Sweden, Slow, Bridgton, Denmark, Brownfield, Porter and Parsonsfield.

He said the current attack by the Saddle Prominent is the most serious to hit the northeast in years. The last serious infestation was in 1968.

"The defoliated areas have the appearance of forests during the fall after leaf drop," Nash explained. He added that some tree mortality is possible after two successive years of defoliation.

Nash said owners of orchards, maple sugar bushes and resort property should be on the look-out next June for the tiny bugs.

"People who have open wells and springs in the infested areas should cover them next spring as the volume of caterpillar droppings can be tremendous," he added.

Nash said the recommended pesticide for fighting the caterpillars is Sevin, one of the so-called soft

GREENWOOD CITY

Mrs. Collette Morgan, Corres. — The day was cooler than usual. We were caught up on our many chores — berry picking, vegetable freezing and other things of a busy season so on impulse we decided to make a visit to the Pot Holes. One of the three who went had never been. She took her car to the entrance to the old county road. Here we escaped the clanging confusion of the main highway, to walk the abandoned woodland road.

These old roads in the woods can reveal stories of years long gone. Most often they are found back among the hills. A half century ago farm homes were built along them. Now the forest has repossessed that which man took and used awhile.

A train passing up-grade, told us that we were nearing the railroad. Sure enough we were in the woodland one moment and the next at the edge of the tracks.

We turned left and followed the way of the train; not so fast and not as smooth travelling.

In about one half hour we entered the woods again to visit the unique forms of nature. Along the river, potholes of all sizes from leucop to enormous caves have been gouged out by the frantic flow of water and the dance of pebbles and stones trapped in hollows powered by water.

Today though the water was very low, better to reveal the sheer rocky walls and passages which have been narrowed down. Signs show that the impatient force of the river has at some time torn loose huge fragments of rock or upended them.

We could hear the water as it sang on its way but quiet in comparison to the underground rumble and wild rush of last year.

I again photographed the "Bean Pot." Last year my only flash failed. This one, not as large as some, is more perfectly formed.

We climbed, crossed and recrossed different sections until we reached the outlet to a smooth wide section of water below the falls. These falls are now rather low in energy, overcome by the heat of the past weeks.

Tall ferns, lush green and thick bent over to view their dresses, gently dipping their "fingers" with every breeze.

We traveled back by way of a ravine to the railroad again. Two more freight trains came up through just minutes apart. We sat on a boulder and watched the train and longer pull up track.

The sun had become hotter now and we were glad to again enter the old road where it was cool.

Our trails had taken us through rough and craggy ground, up and down ravines, through underbrush but the worst travel of all were the "ties" of the railroad.

Corn—A Sweet Sign of Summer

If you must buy corn, be a careful shopper and you'll get the most eating pleasure. Look for husks with good green color. Silk ends should be free from decay or worm injury and the stem end not too dry or discolored. The ears should be well covered with plump, not-too-mature kernels. Avoid corn with yellowed, wilted, or dried husks. Look for corn in a store that displays it in a cool place, preferably on ice or just refrigerated. If you get it from a roadside market, be sure it is freshly picked and is not exposed to the sun. When you get it home, refrigerate it immediately, uncovered. The secret to good eating is cooking it only until tender. Using a small amount of boiling water, let it boil from six to ten minutes depending on the maturity of the corn. Try it with a fork and if it's tender it's done. Take it out of the water immediately and serve piping hot.

A Plant Disease Clinic

The Department of Botany and Plant Pathology at the University of Maine in Orono has officially established a plant disease clinic for interested growers. The clinic will consist of a senior plant pathologist as director and a junior pathologist, who is a graduate student. The free service is available to the general public.

Specimens for examination should include both healthy and diseased tissues from the same plant or species. Make sure that you send enough of the specimen for proper identification since this process requires more material than most people realize. At least some of this material must be alive (although diseased) at the time of collection, and wrapped in a moisture-retaining package to prevent drying on transit to the laboratory. Entire plants should be placed in polyethylene bags and tied securely. Make sure that you wash the soil off the root system in order to avoid extensive rot and decay in the leafy portions of the plant. You can also wrap entire plants in paper with moist towels or cotton around the dirt-free roots and then cover with heavy wrapping paper. Fruit specimens should be placed individually in freezer bags or can be wrapped separately in wax paper. Do not pack in wet towels or cotton since the added moisture will hasten decay in transit.

A letter describing the condition should accompany each packaged specimen and should include such pertinent details as location, exposure, environment, care, age, condition, etc. Place the specimen in a sturdy container — carton, box or mailing tube and send with the information letter to Dr. Richard Campana, 215 Deering Hall, University of Maine, Orono, Maine 04473. Attach the information letter to the specimen container and make sure that your return address is on the letter and/or container. Mail specimens so that they will arrive in Orono early in the week. Samples mailed on Thursday or Friday are quite often delayed and do not reach the Orono office until Monday morning in poor condition.

All specimens will be acknowledged immediately on receipt, but diagnoses may take as long as two to three weeks. Following successful diagnosis of plant disease problems requested, recommendations

Since successful diagnosis may take two to three weeks, you should initiate a sound dust or spray program using a general purpose insecticide-fungicide mixture when disease symptoms are first noted. Thus, you may be able to control the problem without a definite diagnosis. However, bear in mind that definite diagnosis of the plant disease problem will enable you to avoid the problem in future years. The Department of Botany and Plant Pathology would like for you to take advantage of this service if the need arises.

Is Bacon a Luxury?

Many families do not think of bacon as a luxury food, but here are some interesting facts.

"There are no government regulations of the fat-to-lean ratio in cured bacon. The only standards which exist apply to government purchases," Congressman Vanik told the House of Representatives in March 1966.

These standards, he continued, allow no more than 63 percent fat, 2.5 percent salt, and 24.2 percent moisture.

"Thus, federal purchase standards provide for no less than 5.3 percent lean meat in bacon," Vanik added. "The consumer is generally provided with bacon far below these federal purchase standards."

"With bacon currently priced at approximately 85 cents per pound, the consumer is paying about $14 per pound for the lean meat values in bacon, America's most expensive food," he stated.

"Consumer Reports," quoting Vanik, estimates the lean meat value of bacon to be about $3.50 per pound. If the mathematical computation is based on edible remains rather than theoretical percentage of fat.

Breakfast with a Difference

The trouble with breakfast is that it's often the most boring meal of the day because people fall into patterns of eating the same foods day in and day out. Luckily there are no rules that dictate certain foods must be eaten first thing in the morning. If you prefer a milk shake to plain milk or a cheeseburger to bacon and eggs or even ice cream and strawberries with your cereal, there's no reason not to indulge yourself. But do watch these guidelines to a good breakfast! It should supply from 1/4 to 1/2 of the day's total nutritional requirements and include a fruit (preferably citrus), a protein (milk, eggs, meat, or cheese), and a carbohydrate such as cereal or enriched or whole grain breads.

Christian Science
One of the seven synonyms for God as used in Christian Science is "Mind," which is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon to be read in all Christian Science churches on Sunday, Aug. 23. The nature of divine Mind will be explained in contrast to the belief that the human mind is a creature of governing power.
One of the Bible verses to be read is from Psalms: "Great is our Lord, and of great power, his understanding is infinite." Other readings from the Bible illustrate the power of Mind utilized by Christ Jesus in healing the sick.
A citation from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures"

LT. GEN. ALGER HONORED AT RETIREMENT

The Inter-American Defense Board recently bade farewell to its chairman, the very popular and distinguished Lt. General James D. Alger, U. S. Army, and to his charming wife, Consuelo. The principal events marking the completion of brilliant service by this energetic Army leader were a formal reception in the Hall of the Americas of the Pan American Union and a review parade at Fort McNair.

Thus, from an international post of great importance, General Alger closes an illustrious career which began 33 years ago with his graduation from the Military Academy at West Point.

The Chief of Staff, U. S. Army, Gen. William C. Westmoreland, personally conducted the retirement review during which Gen. Alger was decorated with the Distinguished Service Medal (first Oak Leaf Cluster). "For outstanding meritorious service in a position of great responsibility."

by Mary Baker Eddy, Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, reads: "The basis of all health, sinlessness, and immortality is the great fact that God is the only Mind; and this Mind must be not merely believed, but it must be understood."

The public is invited to attend services beginning at 11 a. m. at First Church of Christ Scientist, Main and Tenth Sts., Berlin, N. H. Sunday School is held at the same hour for pupils up to the age of 20 years. Visiting pupils are welcome.

EVERY FAMILY SHOULD HAVE THEIR PERSONAL PHARMACY

There are important reasons why the American Medical Association suggests that you have one personal pharmacy from which you obtain all the medicines and health aids needed by your family.

When one pharmacy fills all your prescriptions, the record file contains all the information needed for the pharmacist to help protect you. Some people are allergic to certain drugs. Others may be getting prescriptions from more than one doctor and the medicines could conflict with each other. We hope that you will choose us to be the personal pharmacy for your family.

YOU OR YOUR DOCTOR CAN PHONE US when you need a delivery. We will deliver without extra charge. A great many people rely on us for their health needs. We welcome requests for delivery service and charge accounts.
